Preparation

MRI

There are circumstances under which MR imaging should not be done, and other circumstances which call for precautions. This will all be explained to you at the time of your booking.

CT

Abdomen / Pelvis / Chest / Head / Angiography

No solid food for 4 hours prior. You may be asked to drink either water or an oral contrast solution 1 to 2 hours prior to the examination to define your gastrointestinal tract. Please notify us if you are diabetic.

Coronary Angiography / Colon / Small Bowel

Special preparation is required and will be arranged at the time of your booking.

Nuclear Medicine

Myocardial Perfusion Scans / Renal Scans / Hida Scans / Gastric Emptying Study / Thyroid Scans / All other Scans

Special preparations are required for all these scans and will be arranged at the time of your booking.

Breast Imaging

Mammogram

No deodorant, talc, perfume, moisturiser or body shimmer around the breast or underarm areas.

Ultrasound

Abdominal / Liver / Gall Bladder / Pancreas / Aorta / Arteries

Nothing to eat or drink except sips of water and no smoking or chewing gum for six hours prior to the examination.

Renal / Kidneys / Bladder

Drink 2 litres of water the day before your appointment. Nothing to eat or drink six hours prior to the examination. Empty your bladder 1.5 hours prior to the appointment. Then drink 1.5 litres of water over the next 30 minutes and hold until your appointment. For children under six years of age, drink two glasses of water 30 minutes before the appointment.

Pelvic Ultrasound / Pregnancy 22 weeks and under

Empty your bladder 1.5 hours prior to the appointment. Then drink 500mls of water over the next 30 minutes and hold until your appointment.

Pregnancy over 22 weeks

Drink 2 glasses of water 45 minutes prior to your examination and hold until your appointment.
